Introduction

In January 2018, the Council of the Regional Municipality of Wood Buffalo (RMWB) approved the Strategic Plan that will guide the Municipality from 2018-2021.

The 2018-2021 RMWB Strategic Plan focuses on the vision of a vibrant, sustainable region we are proud to call home. The plan includes four key strategic priorities identified as critical areas to address to achieve this goal:

The Municipal Strategic Plan was developed as a collaborative effort between Council and Administration, providing long-term focus and direction for municipal services and programs. Through its stated mission of delivering excellence every day, the Regional Municipality of Wood Buffalo will seek to implement strategies and initiatives to meet the vision. ## Executive Summary

Downtown revitalization is a priority in the Regional Municipality of Wood Buffalo's 2018 -2021 Strategic Plan. Success in achieving this priority depends on a variety of stakeholders working together to achieve goals that continue to improve quality of life for residents. The community has invested a significant amount of volunteer time and the Municipality has invested resources in projects, programs, services and initiatives in preparation for a refreshed, revitalized downtown area.

With community ambassadors by our side during public engagement that took place between May - September 2019, we created a dialogue with people across the region to help understand what people have in mind when it comes to downtown Fort McMurray.

A regional engagement strategy was implemented; and included:

- One-on-one meetings with more than 100 stakeholder representatives, community organizations and individuals including members of Council and Municipal staff.
- 24 public engagement sessions (approximately 1,000 residents attended the public engagement sessions).
- 1,200 public surveys completed by residents.

Most respondents were between the ages of 25 and 44. Engagement opportunities were shared on the Municipality's website and other communication platforms. Downtown revitalization led the Municipality's statistics for online engagement during June, July and September. The topic and the engagement opportunities were reported in the media during the engagement period.

This information will be used to initiate the creation of the community's downtown vision and help guide recommendations for next steps and long-term planning.

The 2018 Census indicated a regional population size of 78,832 residents, excluding project accommodations counts. Based on the population size, a minimum valid sample would include approximately 650 residents and through this consultation process more than 1,200 were engaged.

Respondents completed a series of eleven (11) survey questions (see appendix A) and provided general comments starting with their thoughts about where the physical boundary is. The information below provides insights into what we heard people say.

When respondents were asked about the physical boundary of Fort McMurray's downtown, more than 74% said that "downtown" includes the area(s) around Morrison Street (to the north) and King Street (to the south), with Highway 63 forming the western boundary and the Clearwater River providing the eastern boundary. Respondents primarily associated downtown with Franklin Avenue and highlighted the waterfront as a unique focal point within the boundary. Fewer than half of participants consider MacDonald Island Park to be part of "downtown" and even fewer consider Waterways to be part of "downtown".

Next, respondents indicated eight reasons that they currently access downtown. The answers below are in order of the greatest number of responses to the least from left to right.

- Recreation and entertainment
- Shopping
- Business reasons
- Work
- Other
- Living downtown
- Healthcare
- School

A series of open-ended survey questions were also asked as part of the survey and generally, the feedback about overall downtown revitalization was positive. Many people expressed concern that downtown is lacking things for people to do. Given that most of the population and new retail and service providers are located on the northside of Fort McMurray; revitalization of downtown will require creative ways to attract people to downtown and increase investor confidence. There is also an impression that the Municipality has not followed through on past promises and continues to expand services on the northside of Fort McMurray which makes some people concerned about revitalization efforts. It is important that part of revitalization should include rebuilding the trust between residents and the Municipality.

When asked what are the top three to five things that would encourage people to spend more time in Fort McMurray's downtown? The responses in order of the most responses to least were:

- Retail and shopping
- Restaurants and cafes
- Waterfront development
- Improved cleanliness
- Sense of personal safety and security

When asked where you live in the region? The responses in order of the most responses to least were from left to right were:

- |                           |                |
|---------------------------|----------------|
| 1. Timberlea              | 2. Thickwood   |
| 3. Lower Townsite         | 4. Beacon Hill |
| 5. Abasand                | 6. Gregoire    |
| 7. Saprae Creek Estates   | 8. Waterways   |
| 9. Anzac                  | 10. Janvier    |
| 11. Gregoire Lake Estates | 12. Draper     |
| 13. Fort McKay            | 14. Conklin    |
| 15. Fort Chipewyan        |                |

The top recurring survey themes that emerged overall are:

- Create a strong sense of place that feels welcoming, safe and attracts people downtown.
- Enhance beautification and community cleanliness.

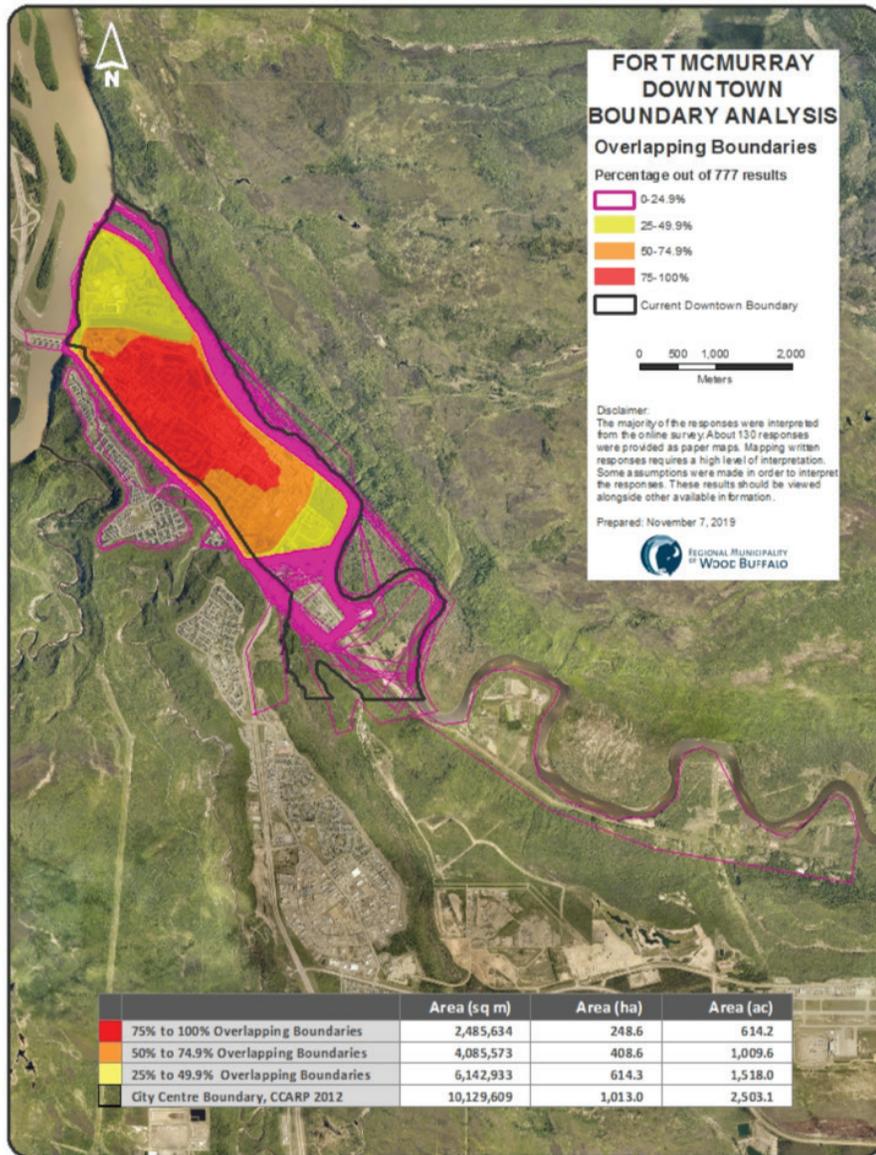

- Establish the waterfront as a focal point.
- Increase the amount of cultural and recreation festivals, events and programs.
- Maintain public and private buildings, landscapes and open spaces in ways that reflect pride of ownership.
- Address homelessness (poverty) and panhandling in public areas.
- Attract new businesses and identify strategies to retain existing ones.
- Identify strategies to address vacant buildings and vacant storefronts.
- Update the look, feel and character of downtown buildings on main streets.
- Identify a uniform design theme for streetscape works, wayfinding signage, banners, seasonal decorations and public art on main streets.
- Create an attractive, and well-connected pedestrian friendly downtown supported by convenient parking and access to an increased density of new businesses in a single area.
- Stimulate development of facilities that offer a range of unique attractions in densified areas and maximize the use of underutilized public and private lands.

It is recommended that this report be read fully to understand the connections between each of the recurring themes and the comments reflected in each of the categories.

Response Summary by Survey Question

Question 1

Please indicate by major street names (or general areas) that you consider to be the physical boundary of Fort McMurray’s downtown? Where does downtown begin for you and where does it end?

The majority (>74%) of respondents confirmed that “downtown” includes the area(s) around Morrison Street (to the north) and King Street (to the south), with Highway 63 forming the western boundary and the Clearwater River providing the eastern boundary.

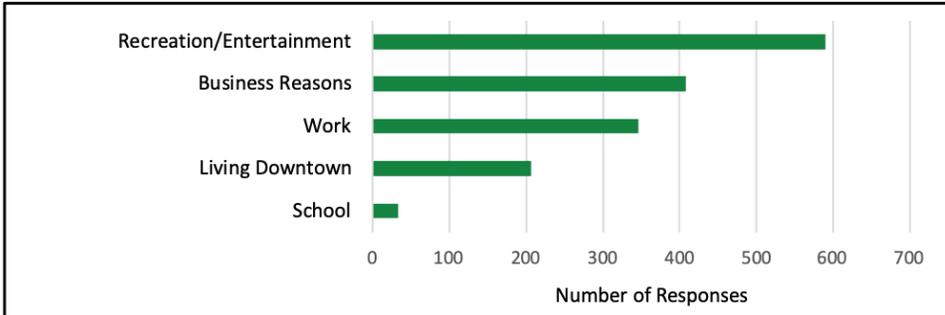

Respondents primarily associated downtown with Franklin Avenue and highlighted the waterfront as a unique focal point within the boundary. In terms of specific streets that define downtown; the beginning and end of downtown along Franklin Avenue varied between Morrison Street and King Street but one commonality was that the general area around the Jubilee Building was always included.

Fewer than half considered MacDonald Island Park to be part of “downtown” and even fewer consider Waterways to be part of “downtown”.

Question 2

Why do you go downtown right now?

Respondents were asked to select “all that apply” from a list of options to indicate reasons they currently go downtown. Below are the responses:

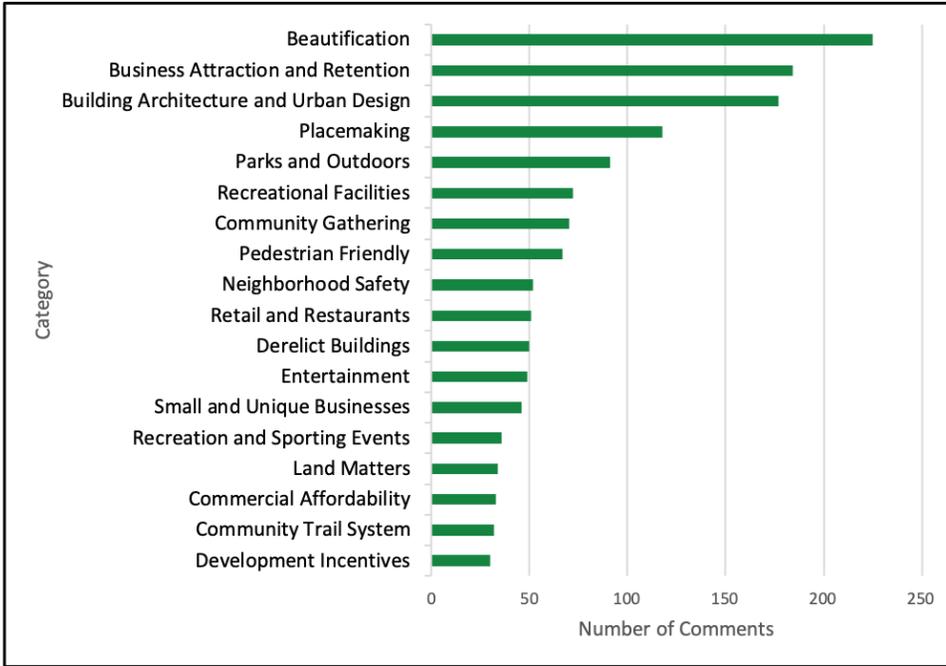

Additionally, survey respondents were also given an opportunity to state other reasons they currently visit downtown. Most commonly, shopping was indicated as a major reason. Healthcare was also noted as a strong reason.

The next three questions (3, 4, 5) on the survey resulted in very similar responses. The number of comments associated with each question are highlighted separately on the charts below from most comments received to the least.

Question 3

When you think about the phrase, 'downtown revitalization', what does that mean to you? Basically, how do you think we should define revitalization?

Question 4

- Consider suitable locations for both indoor and outdoor community gardens.
- Utilize landscaping and green spaces/gardens to enhance the look and feel downtown.
- Consider accessories like fountains.
- Preserve nature.

Parks and Outdoors

Focus efforts on parks and outdoors, open spaces primarily in areas along the waterfront and capitalize on creating views of the water and surrounding nature. Maintain and maximize use of existing park areas (i.e. Jubilee Plaza and Snye Park) and create green spaces where people can entertain themselves. Consider creation of parks and/or green spaces in underutilized areas.

- Create spaces and places where people of all ages and abilities can spend time, enjoy nature and the natural surroundings.

- Clean up areas that are underutilized along the waterfront (i.e. remove weeds and create greenspace)
- Consider creating a well-connected and accessible waterfront boardwalk and trail system with finished landscape and preservation of nature (i.e. trees).

- Continue to connect with Indigenous people. There is an interest in areas around the waterfront to highlight and celebrate culture.

Placemaking

Placemaking can be established through the enhancement of our communities' key characteristics and making the community feel more inviting.

- Focus on establishing a visually and physically coherent/consistent and welcoming downtown.
- Have a connected plan for streetscape plans and wayfinding.
- Create a sense of belonging and place.
- Enhance wayfinding and visual cues that contribute to clearly identified key locations downtown (i.e. Franklin Avenue, districts and waterfront).
- Use a network of street signs, community entrance features (i.e. murals, public art, flags, landscape and monuments) as place makers.

Recreational Facilities

Recreation facilities should include places that provide a wide range of year-round events and activities that makes downtown a unique destination and provides people of all ages and abilities with a range of things to do. Consider other types of attractions within the same area as recreation facilities (i.e. businesses) that will contribute to lively places and spaces where people can spend longer periods of time.

Some facility suggestions included building an arena or a multi-use facility. Other comments suggest a convention centre or indicate no arena and further development of a recreation centre on Abrahams Land in Dickinsfield. Other suggestions included:

- Amusement park
- Baseball batting cage
- Cricket pitch
- Entertainment complex (movie theatre)
- Facilities that rent recreation equipment
- Fitness facility

- Green gyms
- Ice skating rink
- Indoor park
- Indoor skate, scooter and bike park
- Mixed business and recreation opportunities

- Enhance opportunities for families, friends and children of all ages to gather and have fun.

Business Attraction and Retention

Respondents mainly suggested that we focus on addressing vacant land, vacant and run-down buildings and storefronts. Vacant land, buildings, empty storefronts and business closures on a regular basis contribute to a negative perception of downtown and is seen as unattractive. Businesses have an important role to play in revitalization.

- Create a vision for the long term that ensures consistent and ongoing investment in downtown.
- Retain, improve, grow and sustain existing businesses.
- Address underutilized buildings that remain vacant for long periods of time.
- Consider using space in malls where small businesses could potentially thrive.
- Support new business startups and retention of existing businesses (i.e. private sector to review tenant lease options).
- Relocate offices of large business operators to the downtown core.
- Encourage a range of new, diverse businesses (small, medium and large size) to operate downtown.
- Offer a wide range of services unique to downtown which are available and accessible to the public. (i.e. coffee shops, generally more shopping, restaurants and pop up shops/street vendors).
- Ensure people living or operating businesses downtown have access to the programs and services they need to attract new people downtown on both a permanent and temporary basis.
- Make government processes quicker to help address development needs and encourage investment.
- Explore a range of business attraction strategies that increase the number of businesses operating downtown and attract people at all hours of the daytime and nighttime.

- Review the impact that ongoing approval of commercial development on the northside of Fort McMurray impacts downtown revitalization.
- Encourage business startups in designated areas or areas where they previously existed (i.e. Franklin Avenue and Main Street and waterfront) and employ strategies that support existing business retention.
- Consider temporary or short-term year-round marketplace business opportunities, boutique shops along the waterfront and creating unique business areas downtown that are not duplicated on the northside of Fort McMurray.
- Have a retail hub or focal point for the community with increased amenities and a balance of business and recreation.
- Attract small businesses by adding a touch of history or create a theme (i.e. old town) and style that has something for everyone.

- Consider ways that businesses can continue to unique offerings exclusive to downtown (i.e. art shops, bakeries, bistros, boutiques, cafes, craft and market sales, gift shops and ice cream shops).

Building Architecture and Urban Design

Respondents suggested we focus on creating a refreshed look and improved physical feel downtown.

- There is a sense of pride among building owners and operators and an interest in investing in building upgrades.
- Consider if small and unique businesses should be in the same area(s) as big box stores or remain separate and unique.
- Respondents suggested we focus on improving existing structures and updating storefronts and business exteriors that are both occupied and vacant or in disrepair.

- Seek opportunities to encourage businesses to modernize and/or renovate the outside of their buildings and update general appearance.
- Provide architectural interest by preserving heritage buildings and streetscapes.
- Align new buildings with design guidelines that support a consistent look and feel in different areas and positively impacts curb appeal (i.e. streetscape planning, lighting as design elements and to address safety).
- Create places that are visually pleasing and buildings that act as focal points (i.e. cultural and architectural landmarks) and highlight special characteristics.
- Create safe and comfortable spaces.
- Create environments with accessible shopping and spaces where leisure and entertainment can be enjoyed.
- Make areas where people who are attracted downtown feel welcomed when they arrive.
- Design in a way that encourages walkability between stores, shops and open spaces. Create concentrated areas with multiple things for people to do.
- Ensure that sidewalks and walkways support year-round accessibility (i.e. Willow Square area and areas around the Golden Years Society).
- Include plans for trees along Franklin Avenue, bike paths and accessible public transit.
- Freshen up areas with paint and/or include art in various locations (i.e. sign posts and guardrails) and consider attractive theming in various areas.
- Consider more professional building development (i.e. office spaces) and spaces for small businesses.
- Identify what services we need in the region and share the information with land and building owners.

Commercial Affordability

There is a perception that commercial space rent remains too high; particularly for small local businesses.

- Understand why the rates are too high and explore opportunities to adjust, cap or subsidize rental rates; particularly in buildings that remain vacant for long periods of time or in areas such as malls where small businesses could potentially thrive.
- Consider affordable rental spaces for non-profit organizations too.

Note: Commercial affordability relates directly to the perception about why so many spaces are vacant downtown and why some leases are not being renewed (i.e. explore options that would support low cost spaces for small businesses to operate).

Derelict Buildings

Buildings that have been identified as being neglected contribute to creating unattractive eyesores. Respondents suggested a focus on improving the outside appearance or consider options to remove buildings that are in disrepair; are deemed uninhabitable, unsafe or have been left vacant for prolonged periods of time. Turn derelict buildings into something useful for the community.

Development Incentives

People have indicated that incentives could be used to attract new business and help improve existing businesses. People would like to see more business downtown. Consider use of incentives to attract businesses into certain areas where revitalization efforts are focused such as:

- Incentives that encourage affordable access for arts organizations.
- Building incentives to encourage removal of derelict buildings or spruce up the outside of existing buildings (i.e. storefront incentives).

- Building development incentives – encourage businesses to move out of homes and into office spaces.
- Small business grant.
- Lighting grant.
- Land incentives.
- Rebates.
- Tax reductions.

Entertainment

Make downtown a centre attraction (i.e. a hub) that offers fun for all ages at different times of the day.

- Increase the character and liveliness of downtown by creating a wide variety of things for people to do (i.e. be active, eat, drink, shop, see performances and have fun).
- Give people reasons to gather, do business and stay downtown for pleasure.
- Include creative spaces (i.e. theatre, arts gallery and makerspaces) that celebrate our culture, history and improve quality of life.
- Consider both affordable and diverse upscale entertainment options.
- Explore options for designated entertainment district(s) that attract people from around the entire region (i.e. arts and heritage district).

Housing and Neighborhood Development

Consider mixed use areas (i.e. business, commercial, culture and entertainment areas) that reflect clustered living (i.e. residential access to a wide range of services).

- Plan for all ages and design modern spaces where people want to live and can access a range of services by walking from place to place.
- Increase the amount of new condominiums or newer/modern apartments (i.e. high density residential).

- Consider designated areas for retired living.
- Consider housing buildings with bottom floor retail opportunities and multi-use spaces.
- Consider opportunities to plan for high rise buildings (i.e. 5 story buildings).
- Reconsider location(s) of industrial zones mixed with residential properties as part of future planning.
- Consider infill housing as an option.

Homelessness (Poverty)

There is a sense that the presence of vagrant individuals in high traffic areas negatively impact the downtown particularly around Franklin Avenue (i.e. park spaces, some shopping and retail store areas) and in some areas of the waterfront (i.e. nearby Fraser Avenue) by creating a decreased sense of personal safety and security for people.

- Seek out opportunities to provide support (i.e. facilities and social services) for individuals in need. Review current location(s) of homeless serving agencies located on Franklin Avenue and explore alternate locations that support improved services for those in need.
- Address the negative impacts on individuals that are homeless as well as residents, visitors, business owners and operators that are impacted.

Land Matters

There is currently a sense that there is too much vacant land downtown.

- Explore opportunities to fill vacant spaces (i.e. develop the land or sell the land) and bring more businesses into downtown.
- Maximize development and/or consider alternative use of Municipally owned vacant lands (i.e. Franklin Avenue and Main Street).

- Explore options including paved parking (parkade), multi-use hard and soft scape park space for people to hang out, facility development (examples: arena, bus transfer station, casino, conference and entertainment facilities, retail spaces and office spaces).
- Think about selling available land (private/ Municipally owned) to stimulate business development or create opportunities for more affordable development.
- Consider how releasing more land in other areas outside of downtown will impact revitalization.
- Consider ways that vacant private land and buildings could potentially be utilized for future development and/or to support short term activities and businesses (i.e. indoor farmers market and short-term leases).
- Make land available for small businesses along the waterfront.

Neighborhood Safety

Respondents expressed the importance of feeling safe while they move around downtown during the daytime and nighttime and have indicated that a perceived lack of safety impacts their interest in visiting or spending more time downtown. Respondent suggested that we:

- Increase police presence and patrols (i.e. foot and /or bike) downtown.
- Improve security in some areas (i.e. areas around Shopping Centre(s), area(s) at the corner of Franklin Avenue and Main Street).
- Continue to address public intoxication, drug use, sleeping in public spaces and vagrancy.
- Reduce the amount of petty crime.
- Be aware that large open and inactive places make people feel unsafe. Fill spaces with activity where possible.

Parking

Respondents suggested that convenient parking is important. Main thoughts were:

- Review opportunities to enhance ease of access and increase the amount of parking areas.
- Review options for parkade or sheltered parking that can accommodate a variety of vehicles including trucks.
- Angled parking has been noted as a safety concern for some people.
- Angled parking on Franklin Avenue has been identified as important for quick and easy access to shops.
- Suggestions to address or remove on-street parking include back of building parking or parkade development and widening Franklin Avenue to four lanes.
- There are several areas downtown where vacant lots are currently being utilized exclusively for parking. Consider alternative options for parking in these areas.
- Consider ease of parking in areas that could also offer quick walkable access to businesses and busing for special events.
- Maximize the back of buildings on main streets for parking.

Pedestrian Friendly

Revitalization includes an increased number of people walking around downtown. A well designed downtown includes areas that support safe walkability and connects people to a range of activities that stimulates interest and encourages exploration. Respondents suggested we focus on creating well connected, accessible and more walkable downtown areas that look beautiful, feel comfortable, encourage stopping and door-to-door shopping in some areas. Other ideas included:

- Widen sidewalks and make them nicer.
- Clean sidewalks year-round.
- Upgrade sidewalks as required and streamline light poles and other amenities as needed.
- Make the surrounding amenities visually appealing.
- Make areas feel safe during the daytime and nighttime and possibly have access to some trails through neighborhoods to main streets rather than just walking on roadside sidewalks.
- Create safe (i.e. consider crosswalk safety) walkable connections between primary shopping areas along Franklin Avenue to parks and outdoor spaces like the waterfront.

Edmonton, Stephen Avenue in Calgary) like a small village style or temporary shopping areas. Other comments suggested:

- Additional shops (i.e. big box and small businesses) along Franklin Avenue may contribute to drawing people downtown (i.e. mom and pop shops and name brand box stores like Winners or Home Sense).
- Small waterfront shops (i.e. food trucks, kiosks, mobile and pop up summer shops, seasonal vendors and small restaurants).
- Host markets – indoor and outdoor (i.e. Byward Market; Ottawa)

Retail and Restaurants

Respondents suggested we focus on retaining existing businesses, upgrading existing retail stores and attracting more restaurant related businesses (i.e. chain restaurants, anchor tenants and well-known companies plus small businesses like cafes and bakeries) primarily to areas where existing space is already available or could potentially be expanded (i.e. mall space or creation of temporary or permanent patio spaces). Addressing retail needs may not stop people from shopping online or outside of Fort McMurray, but it would reduce the need for it.

A secondary area of focus for small business development (i.e. pop up cafés, ice cream shop(s), food trucks and small rental equipment shops) has been suggested along the waterfront where people can sit and enjoy nature while enjoying retail and food related offerings.

Small and Unique Businesses

Respondents suggested we focus on creating atmospheres where small and unique businesses (i.e. local offerings) are attracted into the downtown and people of all ages can move around easily from place to place (examples: Whyte Avenue in

Parking

Review opportunities to improve parking options overall.

- Consider underground parking.
- Maintain parking areas well with regular snow removal in the winter.

- Franklin Avenue (i.e. including areas just beyond Franklin Avenue like the former Landmark Cinema area).
- Long Boat Landing (i.e. Town Hall Area).
- Waterfront and surrounding areas (i.e. River Point Shops including Walmart).

Governance

There is a desire for ongoing short-term collective action lead by Council and long-term vision that adds value along with plan creation and action implementation consistently over longer periods of time. Respondents also suggested:

- We learn from other communities successes and failures and find innovative ways to limit the impact of boom and bust cycles.

- Establish and enforce bylaws and policies as needed to support downtown revitalization.
- Establish community committees made up of community representatives.
- Where possible, use previous community feedback to support move forward plans rather than surveying people too much.
- Establish synergies with other levels of government to drive interest in investment (i.e. some governments aim for decentralized services. Consider healthcare as an example and leverage new government preferences).
- Limit where possible the burden on taxpayers.

Development Incentives

Respondents suggested that incentives could help to attract new businesses or support existing businesses.

- Tenant incentives (interior building improvements).

Public Transit

Provide affordable, efficient and safe public transit that is available from all areas to downtown with some flexible options (i.e. Métis Office, Fort McKay and the Fort McMurray Airport). Consider ways to improve service (i.e. longer operating hours, more frequent times, direct transportation along Franklin Avenue and use of technology apps to improve service).

- Alternative transportation options (i.e. taxis) are cost prohibitive for many people and a deterrent to spending a night out if travelling from other areas.

Importance of Arts and Culture

Consider ways to enhance the character of downtown by highlighting our history (i.e. Indigenous culture and heritage) and celebrating our uniqueness through public art displays, events, sale of handmade crafts, designation of spaces and places that celebrate diversity.

Questions 10 and 11: Respondent Demographics

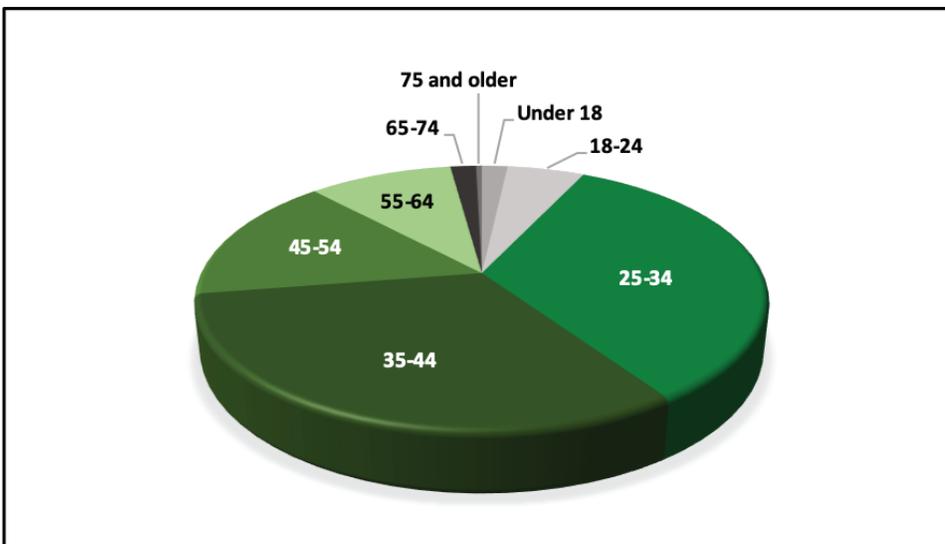

The importance of understanding a broad spectrum of residents ideas about downtown was recognized early in the planning process. It was important to gain feedback from a diverse cross section of the community and ensure feedback was being collected from across the entire region. In developing the survey and engagement plan, staff ensured that opportunities were made available to all residents to participate in the survey and engagement sessions. In rural communities, the number of face to face discussions were higher than the number of survey responses highlighted below. For example, twenty-six people in Fort Chipewyan were engaged during an open house. Each survey question was optional, and some people did not complete all survey questions. Overall rural engagement was in line with past engagement standards.
